Saturday Night

Untold Stories of Sexual Assault at UNM

Consent for Submission Form

Saturday Night is an online journal publication aimed at providing a creative outlet for survivors and those that have been affected by sexual assault. Through the publication, Saturday Night hopes to increase awareness among campuses across the country while increasing prevention efforts against sexual assault.

The UNM community is encouraged to submit personal reactions and/or experiences to be included in the first edition of Saturday Night. All forms of expression are welcome. Submissions will only be published anonymously. Any identifying information, include, but not limited to names of persons, specific locations, and organizations will be redacted prior to publication.

Please send your submission to the University of New Mexico's Women's Resource Center via email SaturdayNight.UNM@gmail.com, in person, or by mail.

Confidentiality

Submissions will be reviewed by the Saturday Night editors and will be published anonymously. Submission of your story to Saturday Night does not guarantee publication. The editors decide whether or not to publish any submission. The editors reserve the right to editing any submission prior to publication in order to de-identify it, to the best of the editors' abilities.
